

I am in full support of removing the (requirement) for Morse although having it optional, as well as giving the Tech no code some (limited) voice etc on HF. Being a partially Disab Viet Nam Vet my Hearing has so far preculeded me being able to master the Morse requirement. Removing the Morse requirement would however provide a needed infusion to the Amatuer ranks and provide a more lucrative incentive to bring others into the field as well as retain the ones already there especially since they will be able to use a portion of the HF spectrum for voice and have a practice area for those wanting to become proficient in morse on a optional basis.
